

Thanksgiving is already here! As the seasons continue to change our precious little wonders continue to bloom and grow. The changes in development we see from day to day, week to week, month to month and year to year vary with each individual child. Our children have their own timelines just like the seasons have their own timelines. We need to be patient and enjoy every milestone and accomplishment our children achieve. Sometimes they may take a step forward, and then a few steps back, and forward again, and successfully master it. Take some time to just be in the moment. Enjoy what your child is doing now. Changes will take place, and the next season will be here before you know it!

Our Program consists of:

Music therapy

Developmental activities which include vision, social skills, gross motor, sensory, literacy, language, cognitive, fine motor, and self-help skills

Parent Meetings

Sibling class

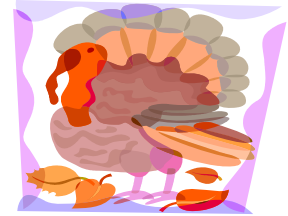

East Valley: Monday 9-11:15

Phoenix: Friday 9-11:15

We enjoy your sweeties so, but please keep your child at home if they are not well~
Also please cancel your Early Intervention appointment if your child is ill. Thank you!

Sensory/Fine Motor/Vision/eye-hand coordination: Thanksgiving gives us the perfect opportunity to play with colorful and vibrant paints! Turkey Handprints
Supplies:

- Red construction paper
- Yellow washable children's paint/paint brush
- Colorful feathers/glue
- Optional -sequins

Painting your child's hand is a great sensory activity. Have your child make hand prints on construction paper, assist your child's hand if necessary by guiding their elbow. Have fun and decorate with feathers and sequins. Touching and gluing feathers, as well as visually attending to sequins, are great ways for your child to explore their senses!
